Getting around

Distance to town centre	Roses is a Tender Port. From the tender drop-off point, it is around a 15 minute walk to the centre.	Main Highlights	The Citadel of Roses is an imposing military fortification which contains many a succession of the ancient settlements to which Roses was home in the past. In the Citadel you can visit the past and learn about the impressive history of the region. It opens around 10.00 - 17.00.
Getting About	There is no train connection in Roses. If you want to go by train to surrounding areas, you have to get a taxi or bus. The best way to see the town is by foot.
Taxis	Taxis will be available by the tender drop off point. Most taxis have a meter but if not, make sure you agree a rate with the taxi driver before making your journey. Remember a 10 minute journey costs approximately €10 per taxi.		Castillo de la Trinidad (Trinity Castle) is about a 25 minute walk up hill from the port, with nice views of the sea along the way. It opens around 10.00.
Local Buses	There is a local bus station that provides information on how to get to surrounding Costa Brava towns.		In Roses you can tour a good part of Girona and go to places as picturesque as Cadaques or Port de la Selva. Empuries, which has been described as a mini Pompeii, preserves important Greek remains while, inland at Figueres you must visit the Dali Theatre-Museum, a tribute to the master of surrealism.
Main Highlights	Roses town Centre: It's interesting to visit the Parish church of Parròquia Santa Maria , which is in the town centre. It belongs to the modernist style, as can be seen on it's main façade. Inside it preserves ornamental ceilings, wrought iron elements and stained glass by local craftsmen.
