Within this huge square are historic and ornate buildings originally palaces on three sides and a large central sculpture called the fountain of the four continents. It's a perfect spot for taking a nice break to enjoy the square, take pictures and enjoy some people watching. The buildings now house various government offices, a visitors center and city hall in the centre. The roman amphitheatre and ruins are in the center of town and are well-preserved and worth visiting while in the area. This amphitheatre built around the first century was originally close to the water, but with the filling in of land in the bay, the theatre is now further back from the waterfront. The Roman grounds are closed off, so there is only access to view the amphitheatre from the street level. Miramar castle built around 1856 for Hapsburg nobility now houses a historical museum with dramatic and scenic views from the cliffs and seaside. The twenty-two hectare park and castle is open to the public for tours of its ornate interiors. The exterior gardens are free to the public and contain exotic trees and plants, beautiful pathways, follies and scenic garden rooms.
